This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.

+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.

+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.

+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. You can search through the full text of this book on the web at `http://books.google.com/`

This Volume, 5th Ed. 1911–1913, is reverently contributed, by Joseph B. Gardner, of New York, as the compilation of Lt. L. R. Hemaily, U.S. Marine Corps, an officer, who when unknown, edited from original sources, selected material, first appearing, in this instance, before the subject could learn of his contemplated publications of this, and his other historic works, which have faithfully placed on record some rare, concealed facts, genuine achievements and honorable characters, because of patriotic devotion to the United States of America.

ASTOR, John Jacob:

Capitalist; b. "Ferncliff," Rhinebeck, N. Y., July 13, 1864; s. William and Caroline (Schermerhorn) Astor; g.-s. William B., and g.-g.-s. John Jacob Astor, founder of family in America; ed. St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and Harvard Univ.; m. Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 17, 1891, Ava L. Willing; children: William Vincent Astor, b. Nov. 15, 1891; Ava Alice Mureal Astor, b. July 7, 1902. Principally engaged in management of vast inherited estate; completed that part of Waldorf-Astoria Hotel known as the "Astoria," 1897; completed Hotel St. Regis, 1905, Hotel Knickerbocker, 1906. Author: A Journey in Other Worlds; A Romance of the Future, 1894. Colonel on Gov. Morton's staff; commn'd inspector-general, with rank of lieut.-col., U. S. V., May 15, 1898; gave a complete and fully equipped battery of artillery to Gov't of U. S. on breaking out of war with Spain; served in Southern camps and in Cuba, including battle, siege and surrender of Santiago de Cuba, and was detailed by Maj.-Gen. W. R. Shafter to deliver official terms of capitulation to the Secretary of War; mustered out of volunteer service, Nov. 1, 1898. Inventor of pneumatic machine to remove worn-out material from roads before new stone is laid down, which received first prize at World's Columbian Exp'n, 1893; also of a practical turbine engine, and other mechanical devices. Among others, the Vibratory Disintegrator, an ingenious device which manufactures producer gas from peat, and the patent covering which will be given to the public. This patent is fully described in the Scientific American of May 22, 1909. Another invention of Col. Astor is the steamship chair. Many people, in crossing the ocean, have experienced inconvenience by reason of the fact that the chairs in the saloon and cardrooms are rigidly screwed to the floor. The chairs are secured at such a distance from the tables that they will accommodate persons of very ample proportions, and, therefore, when a comparatively thin person occupies a chair he finds it necessary to sit merely on the edge; for should he endeavor to lean back in the chair, he finds himself too far from the table. While recently returning from Europe, Col. Astor conceived of a very simple and practical scheme whereby the chairs may be firmly held in place at any desired distance from the tables, or may be easily released and moved about. Col. Astor's scheme involves the use of a vacuum cup beneath the chair, and so mounted that it may be pressed into engagement with the deck or floor to hold the chair by suction, or the vacuum may be broken, the cup lifted, and the chair released. If the chair is on a deck, or hardwood floor, or on rubber tiling, the vacuum will hold indefinitely; while if used on a carpet it will probably be necessary to depress the cup and raise it again occasionally to form a new vacuum. This device will undoubtedly add greatly to the comfort of the traveling public, as chairs may then be quickly and securely fastened at the desired distance from the table to accommodate either fleshy or thin persons. He intends to present this invention to the public, as has been his custom with all his recent inventions. This invention is described and illustrated in the Scientific American of Oct. 23, 1909. These useful inventions show very clearly that if Col. Astor had not inherited vast wealth he would have made a fortune by his inventions. Is director of the Astor Trust Co., Ill. Central R. R. Co., Mercantile Trust Co., Nat'l Park Bank, Plaza Bank, Niagara Falls Power Co., Western Union Telegraph Co., L. I. (Brannan) Scheuyeaulle; ed. common and high schools in Wayne Co., Pa., and Sullivan Co., N. Y., 1870-82, later by private tutors. Awarded gold medal by the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exp'n, Sept., 1909, on the "Heirloom-o-Scheuyemera," a chemical theory of the universe substantially as follows: The primum mobile of something is the predominant simplicity of nothing; the law of nature is coordination; the power of creation equals the task of creating; all is chemical, that evolved in simplicity becomes the battery of complexity. When the battery is exhausted against resistance, all is again simplicity. Through creation runs the subtle cable of action, attraction and repulsion; its primordial end is simplicity; while its complex end is life and reason, men on the sensitive end of this medium receive thought inspiration according to their capacities; intelligence released by death survives on its constituents of life; these phantom memories of shadow-shapes and impressions haunt the living; by these mediums perfect men shall yet learn the arcane of existence; after dissolution, fate juggles one's ashes around the sphere of chance until they come together again in another man. Elected mayor of Eagle City, Alaska, Nov., 1908. In 1906, when the law providing territorial gov't for Alaska took effect, elected a delegate to Conv. at Fairbanks, in which Thomas Kale was nominated for Congress. DAY, Joseph P.:

Real estate broker, auctioneer, agent and dealer; b. N. Y. City, Sept. 22, 1873; s. John W. and Catherine A. (Hayes) Day; ed. public schs., N. Y. City; m. N. Y. City, June 1, 1898, Pauline M. Pope (g.-d. late J. Monroe Taylor); children: Joseph P., Jr., Bernard N. Pope, Charles Pope, Pauline Pope. After completing sch. course became interested in real estate, and at age of 21 established himself in real estate and insurance business. In 1898 negotiated heaviest accident policy ever written, covering insurance against accidents resulting from change of motive power of Third Av. surface railroad, and of 42d St., Manhattanville & St. Nicholas Av. R. R. In recent years has been especially prominent in sale of real estate at auction, in which field is the recognized leader in this country. Has revolutionized the selling of real estate, and in past five years has done more to increase its productiveness than any other man in his profession. In May, 1908, sold over 2,000 lots in 6 of the most successful lot sales ever held in N. Y. City. This was remarkable because it was accomplished at time of great stringency in the money market, and when the majority of real estate interests said that it could not be successfully done. Was auctioneer in now famous Ogden Estate sale (4 days' sale), comprising 1,500 lots in West Bronx between Highbridge and Washington Bridge, and the largest absolute partition sale of city real estate of improved lots in history of the country; also auctioneer of Doherty Estate holdings, comprising property on B'way and 8th Av., Manhattan, which brought $1,913,600 in a single afternoon's sale. In three years ending Dec. 31, 1909, sold at auction more than $100,000,000 worth of real estate in and around Greater N. Y. In year ending June 1, 1910, sold $81,000,000 worth of real estate, which is the record for any one year. During 1909 took charge of selling Manhattan Beach Estates at private sale, and within six months sold over $700,000 of this suburban property with ocean frontage, a record in suburban sales. Has charge of many exec.'s sales and appraisals and other matters pertaining to N. Y. real estate, in which he is recognized as one of the foremost experts on values. Corp'n Counsel, representing City of N. Y., has frequently called on him to testify in reference to appraisals of value of real estate. In sale of property and stock of Third Av. R. R. of N.

Y. City, was appt'd auctioneer and sold railroad, March 1, 1910, for $26,000,000, largest auction sale on record. Among recent successful sales, most notable was that of Yerkes Mansion, which brought $1,239,000 on April 20, 1910. Pres. Real Estate B'd of Brokers of N. Y. (2d term); and mem. Real Estate Auctioneers' Ass'n of N. Y.; Allied Real Estate Interest of State of N. Y.; Real Estate Exchange of L. I.; Chamber of Commerce; North Side B'd of Trade of Bronx; charter mem. House, N. Y. City, succeeded in defeating application of widow of Richard Wagner for injunction restraining production of Parsifal at that opera house. There has hardly been a litigation involving the law of the stage and of dramatic literature, during the last thirty years, in which the Judge has not been on one side or the other, and generally successful. He secured the enactment of the amendments to the United States Copyright Law, and to the Penal Code of the State of New York making it a misdemeanor to pirate plays, since which time piracy has been almost entirely stamped out, and as an appreciation of his efforts, the American Dramatists' Club, of which Bronson Howard was President, presented to him handsomely illuminated resolutions. He also secured the repeal of the New York Law giving to the Society for the Reformation of Juvenile Delinquents the theatre license fees, thus removing the stigma that the theatre is the nursery of crime. He was one of the successful counsel up to the Court of Appeals in the matter of the application for a mandamus to compel the Consolidated Telegraph and Electrical Subway Company, owned by the Consolidated Gas Company, to give space in its subway ducts for the distribution of electricity to the Long Acre Electric Light & Power Company.
